DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

See 915 Cathedral Street.

Originally presenting the reverse of the facade of 915 Cathedral Street, this dwelling has been altered to accomodate the needs of a private dining club. An arched canvas awning shelters the entranceway and two electrified Baltimore gaslamps rest on the capless stone newells. The first floor windows have been removed and a wooden shop front is their replacemenr. A window of 35 lights beside a transomed door, which has a 9 light upper panel and a lower wooden panel with St. Andrew's cross rest below a shallow wooden cornice. Above the cornice is a tripartite transom, now partially filled in to hold air-conditioning equipment. The center and rigly second floor windows have been similarly treated, and have been surmounted with electrical floodlighting fixtures. The brick has been painted.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCECathedral Street

Although the Cathedral Street side of Block 511 is currently a veritable wasteland, the two dignified town homes which do remain are in very good condition and are actively used. Built c. 1859, they complement the scale of the buildings facing them on the west side of Cathedral Street, and should serve as a guide for future development of the ground to the south, which is opposite the imposing and impressive Albion Hotel (see Block 510).
